ALMAVE

DISTILLED BLUE AGAVE
NON-ALCOHOLIC SPIRIT

THE FIRST AUTHENTIC NON–ALC FOR TEQUILA LOVERS, ALMAVE IS MADE IN JALISCO, MEXICO, AND TAKES THE FLAVOR AND CRAFT OF TEQUILA BEYOND PROOF. PERFECT FOR SIPPING OR MIXING.

100% BLUE AGAVE

Almave Blue Agave Spirit's authentic taste comes from the Blue Agave plants from the highlands of Los Altos, Jalisco.

Almave stands alone as the only non–alc product to use real agave.

MADE IN JALISCO, MEXICO

Adapting the time–honored tequila making traditions of Jalisco, Almave is the first premium non–alcoholic agave spirit made in Mexico.

TRADITIONAL DISTILLATION PROCESSES

With the experience of Casa Lumbre Co–Founder and Master Distiller Iván Saldaña, we combine innovation and tradition to create a revolutionary product.

Every distillery has a distiller.
Some have a master distiller.

ONLY VIKRE WAS FOUNDED BY SOMEONE SO OBSESSED WITH FLAVOR THAT THEY WENT AND GOT A PHD IN IT.

We take that passion and pour it into every bottle—blending deep expertise with the natural beauty of foraged botanicals, local grains, and pristine Lake Superior water. No shortcuts, no gimmicks—just wildly thoughtful gin and liqueurs crafted for those who love flavor as much as we do.

TURNS OUT SOUTH GEORGIA IS THE GREATEST PLACE ON EARTH TO AGE WHISKEY.

NOW SIPPIN' SLOW IN MICHIGAN

In South Georgia, the heat, humidity and high-temperature swings never take a season off, and neither does our patience. We age whiskey to taste, not just to time, letting the climate pull rich oak character into every sip. The result: award-winning spirits so good they're worth drinking slow.

SPIRITS

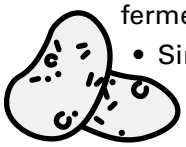
All spirits are alcoholic, but not all alcoholic drinks are spirits. What sets spirits apart is that they tend to have a higher alcohol content than other alcoholic beverages and are made via distillation vs. fermentation. Whether straight, on the rocks, or in a mixed drink, spirits are incredibly versatile.

VODKA

- Composed mainly of water and ethanol, vodka is traditionally made from fermented cereal grain and other starchy ingredients like potatoes.



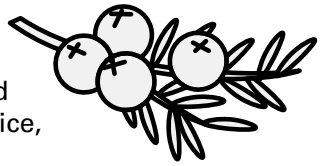
- Since 1890, standard vodkas have been 40% ABV (80 proof).
- Traditionally served neat, vodka is also used in many cocktails such as a Vodka Martini, Cosmopolitan, or Moscow mule.

RUM

- Rum is created by fermenting then distilling sugarcane molasses or sugarcane juice, then aging that in oak barrels.
- Dark rums are usually made from caramelized sugar or molasses and aged longer in heavily charred barrels. This results in a much stronger flavor than other, lighter rums.
- Gold rums are medium-bodied, aged rums, but not aged as long as dark rum.

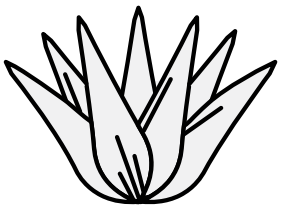
- Light rums, also known as silver or white rums, in general have less flavor beyond a general sweetness compared to aged rums. This milder flavor makes them great for mixed drinks though, like a Mojito or Daiquiri.

GIN



- Gin derives flavor from mainly juniper berries and other botanical/herbal, spice, floral, or fruit ingredients.
- It was originally created as a medicinal liquor distilled by monks and alchemists in Europe.
- A relatively simple spirit to produce, during Prohibition the secretly made “bathtub gin” was popular in speakeasies.
- Often gin is mixed with tonic, but is also featured in popular cocktails such as a Negroni or Bee’s Knees.

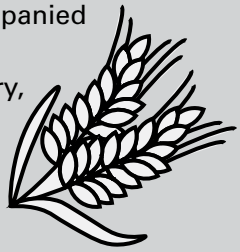
TEQUILA



- A distilled spirit traditionally made from the blue agave plant found in the Jaliscan Highlands in Mexico, near the city of Tequila.
- There are three types of tequila:
  - Blanco (”white”) or Plata (”silver”) tequila is an unaged spirit bottled or stored immediately after distillation. 100% agave tequila of this kind is a harsher spirit that features bold agave flavors.
  - Reposado (”rested”) tequila is aged a minimum of two months, but less than a year in oak barrels of any size.
  - Añejo (”aged” or “vintage”) is tequila aged a minimum of one year but less than 3 years in small oak barrels. Aged tequila like this is smoother, subtler, and less complex than blanco, thus excellent for sipping.

WHISKEY

- Whiskey is distilled from fermented grain mash, which can include barley, corn, rye, or wheat and typically aged in charred wooden casks.
- During Prohibition, all alcohol sales were banned from the US except whiskey prescribed by a doctor and sold through a licensed pharmacy.
- There are many different kinds of whiskey, such as:
  - Scotch, which has a rich and smokey flavor often accompanied by hints of peat.
  - Rye, which is spicier and dry, sometimes containing notes of citrus.
  - Bourbon, which is sweeter, often with notes of vanilla, caramel, or fruit.



- Whiskey is featured beautifully in cocktails such as the Old-Fashioned, the Manhattan, and the Mint Julep.

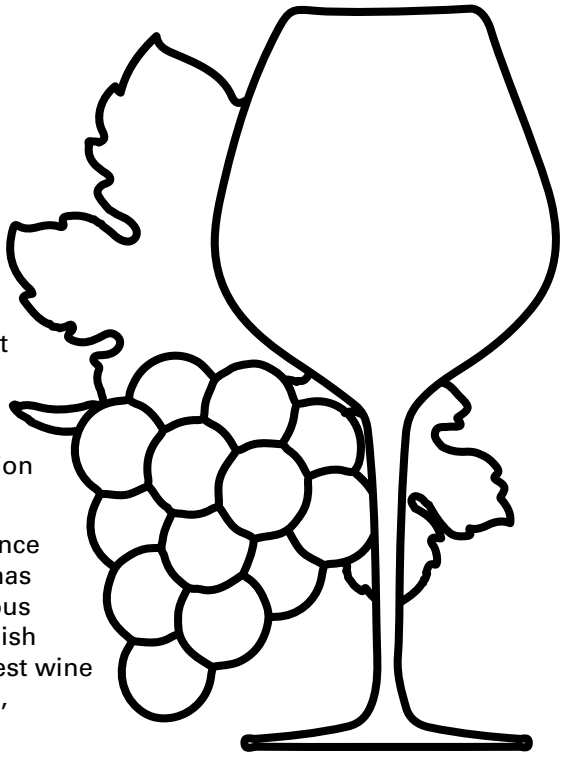
WINE



Wine is more than an alcoholic beverage made from fermented grapes, it is an agricultural product that has a sense of place and a piece of history. We are lucky to represent many different varieties of grapes fermented with varying strains of yeast (many indigenous), different growing environments and geological origins, as well as many other influential factors including winemaking practices like integration of oak or stainless steel.

Making wine is a thousand-year-old practice, the earliest evidence of which comes from way back in 6000 BCE. New World wine has some connection to alcoholic beverages made by the indigenous peoples of the Americas, but is mainly connected to later Spanish traditions in New Spain. Today, the five countries with the largest wine producing regions are in Italy, Spain, France, the United States, and China.

Vino Veritas

In 77AD, an Roman naturalist and philosopher, wrote "In wine, there is truth" in his book Naturalis Historia. When pondering the first origins of wine, you may imagine Greek gods or ancient Italian vineyards, but the actual birthplace may surprise you.

West Asia, near the modern day nations of Turkey and Iran, is where our earliest evidence of winemaking is found. The Shulaveri-Shomu people are believed to be the first people making wine in that West Asian area. As a stone age society, they used obsideon tools, raised farm animals like cattle and pigs, and grew grapes.

Subterranean pottery vessels called Kvevri have been found to prove this, and the same type of vessels are used in Georgian winemaking today!

4,000 BC
Ancient, submerged pottery vessels used for winemaking.

77 AD
Pliny the Elder details Rome's top wine regions in Naturalis Historia.

~1650
Cabernet Franc and Sauvignon Blanc naturally cross to create Cabernet Sauvginon.

1890
Zinfandel is the most planted grape in America.

1920-1933
American Prohibition is instated, drying up American wine production.

1964
First bag-in-a-box wines are introduced.

2000
France is the largest producer of wine in the world. Italy is number 2.

1978
Robert Parker introduces The Wine Advocate 100pt rating system.

ARGENTINA

Salta
This northern most region in Argentina is home to the highest elevation vineyards in the world! Ranging from 6,500–8,000 feet high, the wines made here are quite intense. For every 333 feet increase in elevation the temperature drops a degree. Torrontes, Cabernet Sauvignon, and Tannat are the main grape varietals grown here.

La Rioja
The oldest wine region in Argentina, but these days not much wine is made here.

San Juan
The second largest region in Argentina, San Juan produces about 20% of all Argentina's wines. Primarily known for inexpensive wine, vermouth and sherry style fortified and flavored wines.

Mendoza
This is the present epicenter of Argentine wine and produces about 70% of wines from this country. While not quite the stratospheric heights of Salt, the elevations here range from 1,950 to 3,600 feet high! Half the wine production here is dedicated to reds with Malbec leading the pack, followed by Cabernet Sauvignon, Bonarda, and Tempranillo.

Uco Valley
This cool climate sub region of Mendoza is known for aromatic whites and Pinot Noir.

Patagonia
This small cool climate region is the southernmost in Argentina. Torrontes, Chardonnay, Semillon, and Pinot Noir - all cool climate loving grapes - grow well here.

South Australia
BAROSSA
Many of Australia's best winemakers are located here and make world renowned Shiraz and Cabernet Sauvignon. Old un-grafted bush vines bring intensity to the wines, and dry farming brings concentration to the typical fruity, spicy, leather, chocolate notes.
McLAREN VALE
South of Adelaide and on the coast, the typical warm climate is moderated by cooling ocean breezes. Fruity bold Shiraz, Cabernet, and Grenache come from this great region.
COONAWARRA
The soil here is iron rich red clay over limestone, known as terra rossa, and gives the Cabernet Sauvignon distinctive plum, black-currants, eucalyptus, and menthol notes.

Victoria
RUTHERGLEN
Well known for fortified dessert wines made from the Muscat and Muscadelle grapes.
YARRA VALLEY
South east of Adelaide the cool wet climate here is more suitable for Chardonnay and Pinot Noir than the typical Australian Shiraz. Sparkling wine industry burgeoning here too.

New South Wales
HUNTER VALLEY
This region has long been famous for their dry white wines made from Semillon or Chardonnay. Semillon is rarely seen unblended and shows signature honey and toast flavors here.

AUSTRIA

Niederosterreich
This is the largest wine region in Austria and represents about 57% of wine production.

KAMPTAL
Along the Kamp river, which moderates the cool weather, vineyards are found on the hillsides. Excellent Riesling and Gruner Veltliner are made here.

KREMSTAL
East of Wachau, this region gets plenty of sun on its rolling hills. Excellent Riesling and Gruner Veltliner are made here.

WACHAU
On the banks on the Danube River, this is a small region with steep hillside vineyards. Wachau makes classic and high quality wines from Gruner Veltliner and Riesling. This region has three unique terms that indicate grape ripeness at harvest- in order of first picked to last they are Steinfelder (11% abv or lower), Federspiel (11-12.5% abv) and Smaragd (12.5% abv or higher). The wines here are all fermented dry so each wine has an increasing level of alcohol and richness of body.

WEINVIERTAL
Large region, mostly known locally. Lots of Gruner Veltliner made here.

Wien (Vienna)
The capital city of Vienna is the only major city to be a significant wine region as well! With 1,500 acres of vines around the metropolis wine culture is a way of life here. While Gruner Veltliner and Riesling are the primary grapes grown here they are also known for their Gemischter Satz wines. These are a field blend of various grape varieties all harvest and vinified together.

Burgenland
This is the second largest region in Austria and represents about 35% of wine production. Until 1921 Burgenland was part of Hungary. This sunny region gets over 2,000 hours of sunshine a year. Red grapes dominant here and are able to take advantage of the greater sunshine and warmer weather. The sub-regions are Neusiedlersee, Neusiedlersee-Hugelland, Mittelburgenland, and Sudburgenland.

Traisental
The Traisental is a small, young wine region in Lower Austria, named for the Traisen River, known for its Gruner Veltliner and Riesling wines, which display minerality, firm structure, and a distinctive character due to its unique limestone-conglomerate soils and cool climate.

CHILE

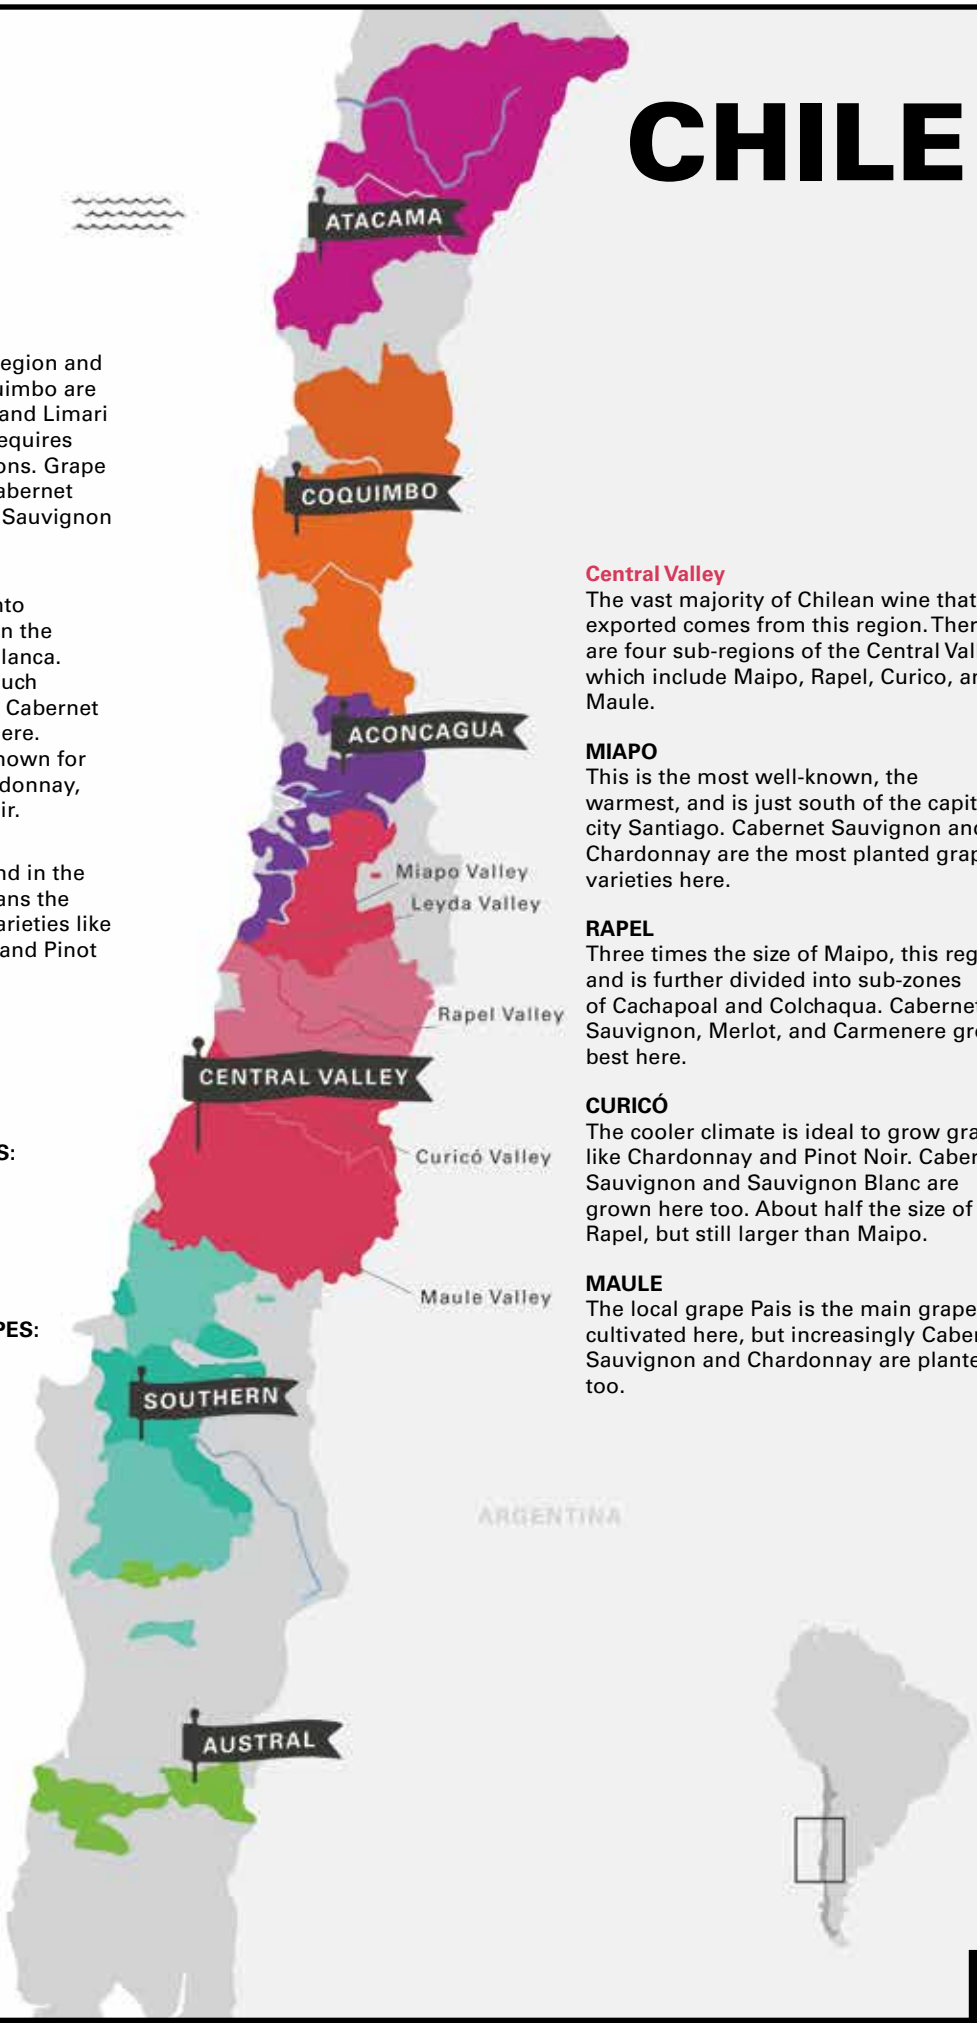
Coquimbo
Coquimbo is the newest wine region and the most northern. Within Coquimbo are the sub-regions of Elqui Valley and Limari Valley. This area is desert dry, requires irrigation, and has high elevations. Grape varieties grown here include Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, Carmenere, Sauvignon Blanc, and Chardonnay.

Aconcagua
This region is further divided into the sub-regions of Aconcagua in the north and in the south is Casablanca. Aconcagua the sub-region is much warmer and makes wines from Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, and Carmenere. Cooler climate Casablanca is known for cooler climate grapes like Chardonnay, Sauvignon Blanc, and Pinot Noir.

Southern Region
This region is furthest south, and in the Southern Hemisphere, this means the climate is cooler here. Grape varieties like Riesling, Muscat, Chardonnay, and Pinot Noir are planted here.

MAIN RED WINE GRAPES:
Cabernet Sauvignon
Merlot
Carmenere
Syrah
Pinot Noir

MAIN WHITE WINE GRAPES:
Chardonnay
Sauvignon Blanc



Central Valley
The vast majority of Chilean wine that is exported comes from this region. There are four sub-regions of the Central Valley which include Maipo, Rapel, Curico, and Maule.

MIAPO
This is the most well-known, the warmest, and is just south of the capital city Santiago. Cabernet Sauvignon and Chardonnay are the most planted grape varieties here.

RAPEL
Three times the size of Maipo, this region and is further divided into sub-zones of Cachapoal and Colchaqua. Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, and Carmenere grow best here.

CURICÓ
The cooler climate is ideal to grow grapes like Chardonnay and Pinot Noir. Cabernet Sauvignon and Sauvignon Blanc are grown here too. About half the size of Rapel, but still larger than Maipo.

MAULE
The local grape Pais is the main grape cultivated here, but increasingly Cabernet Sauvignon and Chardonnay are planted too.

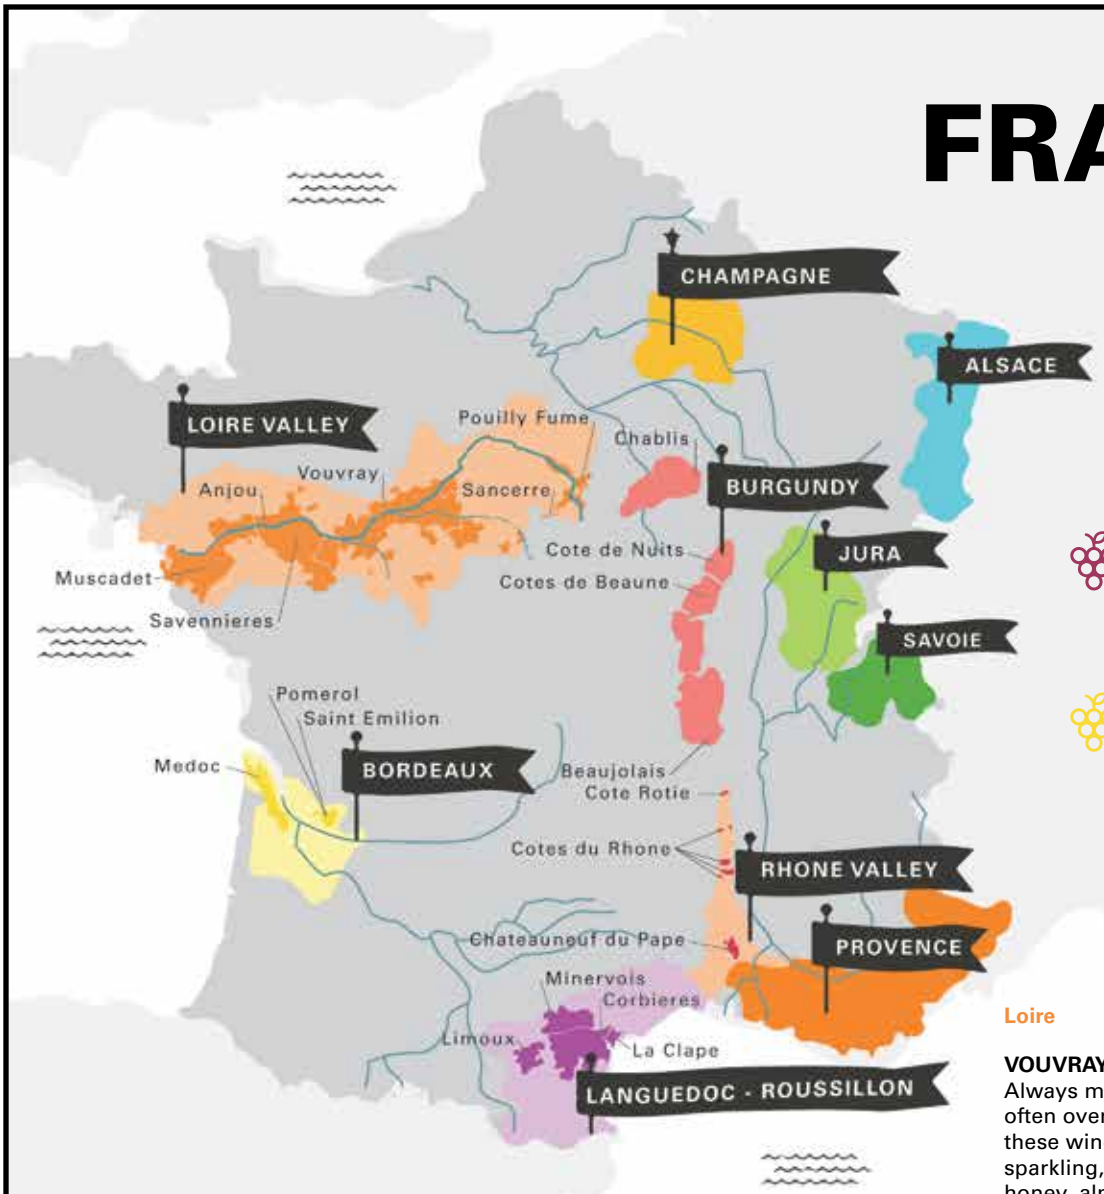
FRANCE



MAIN RED WINE GRAPES:
Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Cabernet Franc, Pinot Noir, Grenache, Syrah, Mourvedre, Gamay, Carignan, Cinsault

MAIN WHITE WINE GRAPES:
Sauvignon Blanc, Semillon, Chardonnay, Chenin Blanc, Riesling, Gewurztraminer, Pinot Gris, Viognier, Marsanne, Roussanne

Bordeaux

MEDOC
On the left bank of the Gironde River, this mini-peninsula was once a swamp. Today the most elite sought after wines are made, from mostly Cabernet Sauvignon with some Merlot, on this gravelly river bank.

POMEROL/SAINT EMILION
These regions are found on the right bank of the Gironde and Merlot dominates here with Cabernet Franc as a co-star.

Burgundy

CHABLIS
Closer to Champagne than to the rest of Burgundy, this is a cool climate region. Only Chardonnay is grown and it is typically un-oaked making clean, crisp, mineral driven wine.

COTE DE NUITS
Primarily famous for wines made from Pinot Noir, but there is some Chardonnay too. Hard to disagree with those who say the best Pinot Noir is the world is made here.

COTES DE BEAUNE
Moving into oak aged Chardonnay domination, with some Pinot Noir as well. Chardonnay doesn't get any better than this.

BEAUJOLAIS
Known for the Beaujolais Nouveau bubble of the 1990's, this regions beautiful red wines made from the Gamay grape are often overlooked and offer great values.

Loire

VOUVRAY
Always made from the wonderful, and often overlooked, Chenin Blanc grape, these wines can be dry, sweet, still, or sparkling, but always have notes of apple, honey, almond, and cream.

SANCERRE
Fresh citus with mineral and chalk undertones define the wines made from Sauvignon Blanc in this cool region.

Rhone

COTE ROTIE
Mostly Syrah co-fermented with Viognier from the steep slopes of this 'roasted coast' that have endured the fierce mistral wind make these wines the most noteworthy in the Northern Rhone.

COTES DU RHONE
Almost always a red wine based on Grenache, Syrah, and Mourvedre from the Southern Rhone with rich fruit notes and some rustic spice. A small amount of white and rose wines are made here too.

CHATEAUNEUF-DU-PAPE
The name translates to 'the new castle of the pope' as these vineyards were originally planted for the second Pope in Avignon. A notable rich dense and spicy wine from the Southern Rhone.

GERMANY

MAIN RED WINE GRAPES:
Pinot Noir (Spatburgunder)
Dornfelder

MAIN WHITE WINE GRAPES:
Riesling
Muller-Thurgau
Silvaner
Pinot Gris (Grauburgunder)
Pinot Blanc (Weissburgunder)

Mosel
Characterized by steep slopes, a winding Mosel River, and slate soils this classic wine region makes world class wines! Wines from here always have racy and powerful acidity, clean steely body, and light elegance.

Nahe
This smaller region is about half the size of the Mosel, and lies just South of the Mosel along the Nahe River. This is a land of great wine estates making white wines that are substantial, classic, complex, and balanced.

Rheingau
This region is even smaller than the Nahe, and about one third the vineyard land of the Mosel. With the influence of the soil and the mountains creating a warmer environment, Rheingau wines are known to have a richer fuller body with spicy peach notes.

Rheinhessen
This is the largest wine region in Germany, and where most Liebfraumilch is made. While we are quite familiar with this wine in the United States, it is virtually unknown in Germany!

Pfalz
This region is south of Rheinhessen along the Rhin river, is protected from rain by the Haardt mountains, and is second only to the Rheinhessen region in size. While mostly white wines are made here, red wine made from Pinot Noir are one quarter of production and growing.

Baden
Most southern and warmest region in Germany, this is Pinot Noir land!

Ahr
In the North, but dark volcanic soils retain heat and make this region warm. Primarily red wines made here from Pinot Noir and Dornfelder.

Franken
Known for high quality white wines made from the Silvaner grape in the classic squat/rounded bocksbeutel bottle.

Aglianico

MAIN WHITE WINE GRAPES:
Trebbiano
Catarrato
Pinot Grigio
Verdicchio
Vernaccia

Piedmont

BAROLO
Known as the 'King' of Italian wine, made from the grape Nebbiolo, and aged for a minimum of two years in barrel and one year in bottle. Flavors include dried roses, strawberries, plum, tar, licorice, mushroom, and leather.

BARBARESCO
Known as the 'Queen' of Italian wine, made from the grape Nebbiolo, and aged for a minimum of one year in barrel and one year in bottle. Considered more elegant than Barolo with less body, smoother tannins, more aromatic, and greater fruit flavors.

MOSCATO D'ASTI
Made from 100% Moscato this is a slightly sparkling, aromatic, fruity, and sweet wine.

Lombardy

FRANCIACORTA
High end quality sparkling wine made in the champagne method from Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, and Pinot Blanc.

Veneto

PROSECCO
A sparkling wine made from the Glera grape and known for floral and fruity flavors.

SOAVE
Classic white wine made from Garganega and Trebbiano grapes has fresh mineral, almond, and lemon flavors.

VALPOLICELLA
A red wine made from Corvina, Corvinone, Molinara, Rondinella grapes.

RIPASSA DELLA VALPOLICELLA
Before fermentation Valpolicella juice is in contact with dried Amarone grapes or partially dried grapes added to Valpolicella juice. Fuller, richer, and more complex than a Valpolicella wine.

AMARONE DELLA VALPOLICELLA
Made entirely from dried grapes and fermented dry which results in a very rich, sweet dried fruit flavors, concentrated wine with higher alcohol.

Abruzzo

MONTEPULCIANO D'ABRUZZO
Made from the Montepulciano grape, these wines tend to be dark fruited, dense, with velvety or silky tannins.

Tuscany

CHIANTI
Made primarily from Sangiovese, these wines have classic sour cherry, orange peel, and warm earthy flavors.

BRUNELLO DI MONTALCINO
Made from a clone of Sangiovese called Brunello, this wine is very concentrated with black fruits, chocolate, leather, and violet flavors. Must be aged for two years in oak and two years in barrel.

Basilicata

AGLIANICO DEL VULTURE
Made from the Aglianico grape grown on the volcanic soil of Mount Vulture, aged for 3 years, with big tannins, a full body, cherry, plum, chocolate, violet, and earthy flavors.

NEW ZEALAND

MAIN RED WINE GRAPES:
Pinot Noir
Merlot
Cabernet Sauvignon

MAIN WHITE WINE GRAPES:
Sauvignon Blanc

Pinot Gris

Hawke's Bay
This historical region is the second largest in New Zealand. Excellent wines made here from Cabernet, Merlot, and Syrah grapes, and especially in the sub-region Gimlett Gravels.

Wairarapa
This in Pinot Noir country, especially around Martinborough. Small boutique wineries are the general rule here.

Marlborough
Two thirds of all New Zealand vineyards are planted here in the sunniest part of New Zealand. Sauvignon Blanc clearly dominates, but there is some Pinot Noir, Chardonnay, and Riesling here too.

Central Otago
The world's most southern vineyard, this mountainous inland region is known for truly great wines made from Pinot Noir. White wines from Sauvignon Blanc, Chardonnay, Riesling, and Pinot Gris are made too.

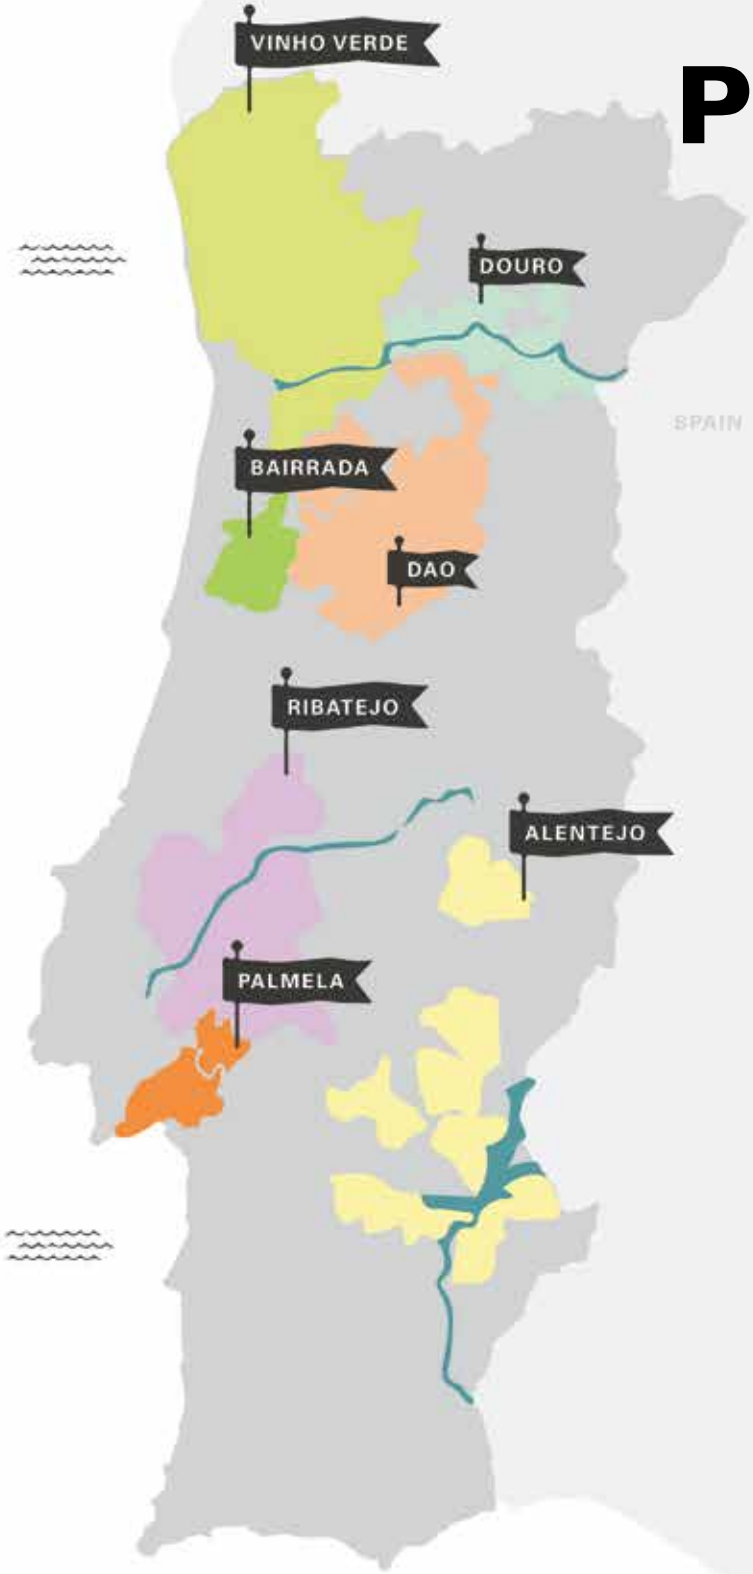
PORTUGAL



Douro
While this region is known for making the fortified wine Port, half of the vineyards are dedicated to unfortified wines. Port is one of the truly great fortified wines in the world, and for some time the table wines were in the shadow of this fine wine. These days both fortified and unfortified wines have risen to great heights! Forty percent of Portuguese wines comes from here, and the wines tend to be a blend of grapes. The principle red grapes are Touriga Nacional, Tinta Roriz (Spain's Tempranillo), Tinta Franca, and Tinta Cao.

Dao
Mostly red wines are made in this northern region. While familiar Douro grapes like Touriga Nacional and TInta Roriz (Tempranillo) grow here, their primary regional red wine grape is Jaen.

Bairrada
Damp and rainy, this central region is also dominated by red wine grapes. The regional Baga grape is responsible for about two thirds of the wines made here. Deep color, high acidity, high tannins, and subtle fruit notes are the hallmark qualities of this wine.

Ribatejo
Known as Portugal's orchard, this maritime region has cool morning mists. Mostly white wines are made here from Fernao Pires and Arinto grapes, while red wines are made from Periquita and Trincadeira.

Palmela
This warm climate southern region on the Setubal Peninsula is known for the dessert wine Moscatel de Setubal, but dry red and unfortified white wines are increasingly made here.

Alentejo
This dry and hot region known as the California of Portugal' is third largest producing wine region in Portugal, after the Douro and Vinho Verde. Just over half of wine production here is red wine made from the Trincadeira, Aragonez (aka Tempranillo), and Alfrocheiro Preto grapes. White wines are made from Roupeiro, Antao Vaz, Arinto, and Fernao Pires. Say those names three times fast!

MAIN RED WINE GRAPES:
Castelao (aka Periquita)
Touriga Nacional
Tinta Roriz (Tempranillo)

MAIN WHITE WINE GRAPES:
Loureiro
Alvarinho (Albarino)
Bical

Vinho Verde
White wines from this large region in the Northwestern region are well known in the United States, though they make just as much Red Vinho Verde wine. The grapes in a typical white can include Alvarinho (Spain's Albarino), Loureiro, Trajadura, Avesso, and Pederna. These fresh light bodied wines tend to be slightly fizzy, with low alcohol, high acidity, and beautiful Riesling like aromas. Almost 30% of Portuguese wines are made here.

Coastal Region

CONSTANTIA
A dessert wine made here from the Muscat grape was THE wine of Kings and Queens in the 18th and 19th centuries and demanded the highest prices. Dry white from Sauvignon Blanc and Chardonnay, and rich reds from Merlot and Cabernet are also made here.

STELLENBOSCH
This is the largest district in terms of size, but only 5th in production. Typically you can get either high quantity or high quality and Stellenbosch is clearly prioritizing quality!

PAARL
It is hot and dry here with very little influence from the ocean. Red grape dominant the vineyard land here, but plenty of Chardonnay and Chenin Blanc are grown here too.

FRANSCHHOEK
Known as the French Quarter, this area is composed of narrow valleys surrounded by high mountains. This is the heart of gourmet food and Sparkling Wine production in South Africa.

Cape South Coast

OVERBERG
A very up and coming area just east of Cape Town and Stellenbosch. The cooler climate here favors Pinot Noir and Chardonnay.

WALKER BAY
One of the coolest areas in South Africa and the vineyards are planted on the mountain slope at higher elevations. Pinot Noir and Chardonnay grow well here, as well as Sauvignon Blanc, Merlot, and Shiraz.

Breede River Valley

ROBERTSON
The inland location makes it warmer and drier here. Vineyards in the Robertson district are dominated with white grapes like Chenin Blanc, Chardonnay, Sauvignon Blanc, and Colombard.

MAIN RED WINE GRAPES:
Tempranillo
Garnacha (Grenache)
Carignan (Mazuelo)
Monastrell (Mourvedre)

MAIN WHITE WINE GRAPES:
Albarino
Verdejo
Viura (Macabeo)

North Central/ Ebro River Valley

RIOJA
Mostly red white is made here. Wines can be made entirely of Tempranillo, but Garnacha, Carignan, and Graciano can also be added.

NAVARRA
This is mostly a red wine region with many international grapes like Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot planted in addition to the traditional Tempranillo and Garnacha.

North Central/ Duero River Valley

RIBERA DEL DUERO
Almost exclusively red wines are made here with the Tempranillo grape. The high elevations and closeness to the sun make the grape skins thicker here making wines that are richer and denser than Rioja.

RUEDA
A rare and small region that produces primarily white wines from the grape varieties Verdejo and Viura.

TORO
Another small region just east of Portugal with very warm summers. Primarily red wines made here from Tempranillo and Garnacha.

Galicia

RIAS BAIXAS
The cool and rainy ocean side region is the primary region where all Albarino grapes are grown.

Catalunya

PENEDES
Down the Mediterranean coast from Barcelona, this is Cava country.

PRIORAT
Almost exclusively a red wine region,the soil here is unique with volcanic origins called licorella. Instead of Tempranillo, it is Garnacha and Carignan that dominate the blends here.

JUMILLA
This hot and dry southern region is a race spotlight for the Monastrell grape.

Central Spain/ The Meseta

LA MANCHA
Just south of Madrid, this is the largest wine region in the world and produces half all the grapes in Spain! Mostly white grapes are grown here, and still most is distilled into brandy.

Andalucia

JEREZ
This southern region of Spain is known for their sandy albariza soils and the diverse and delicious Sherry they make.

CALIFORNIA

North Coast

NAPA VALLEY
Only 4% of California wine comes from Napa, but this is considered the highest quality region. Cabernet Sauvignon is King here!

SONOMA
This region spans from the coast to inland valleys, and the temperature changes accordingly. Pinot Noir and Chardonnay do well on the coast while Cabernet and Zinfandel shine in the warmer inland areas.

CARNEROS
The fogs coming in from the Bay and coastal winds make this a cool region devoted to Pinot Noir and Chardonnay.

North Central Coast

LIVERMORE
Known for white wines from Sauvignon Blanc and Chardonnay, but they make fine reds from Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot too.

SANTA LUCIA HIGHLANDS
High coastal winds are funneled inland from Monterey Bay into this region cooling the weather and concentrating the grapes. The results are rich bold wines made from Pinot Noir and Chardonnay.

South Central Coast

PASO ROBLES
This warm region is a hot spot for Rhone varietals like Syrah and Grenache, as well as the American classic- Zinfandel.

Sierra Foothills

AMADOR
Famous for old vine hearty Zinfandel, their Syrah, Petit Sirah, and Sauvignon Blanc make excellent wines as well.

Central Valley

LODI
This cool climate are surrounded by the warm Central Valley makes distinctive and delicious wines from the Zinfandel grape.

MAIN RED WINE GRAPES:
Cabernet Sauvignon
Merlot
Zinfandel
Pinot Noir

MAIN WHITE WINE GRAPES:

MICHIGAN

MAIN RED WINE GRAPES:
Cabernet Franc
Merlot
Pinot Noir

MAIN WHITE WINE GRAPES:
Riesling
Chardonnay
Pinot Gris
Gewurztraminer
Pinot Blanc

Leelanau
The peninsula is between Lake Michigan and Grand Traverse Bay. Pinot Noir, Chardonnay, and Riesling are the most planted grapes here. Currently 27 wineries.

Old Mission
The most recent wine region in Michigan starts in Traverse City and juts out into Grand Traverse Bay. The lake effect moderates the hot summer and cold winters. Currently 9 wineries here with 1 on the way.

Fennville
The first declared wine region in Michigan on the shore of Lake Michigan between South Haven and Saugatuck. Cool lake breezes moderate the hot northern summer days. Currently 2 wineries here.

Lake Michigan Shore
90% of Michigan vineyards are found in this large region. Currently 31 wineries here.

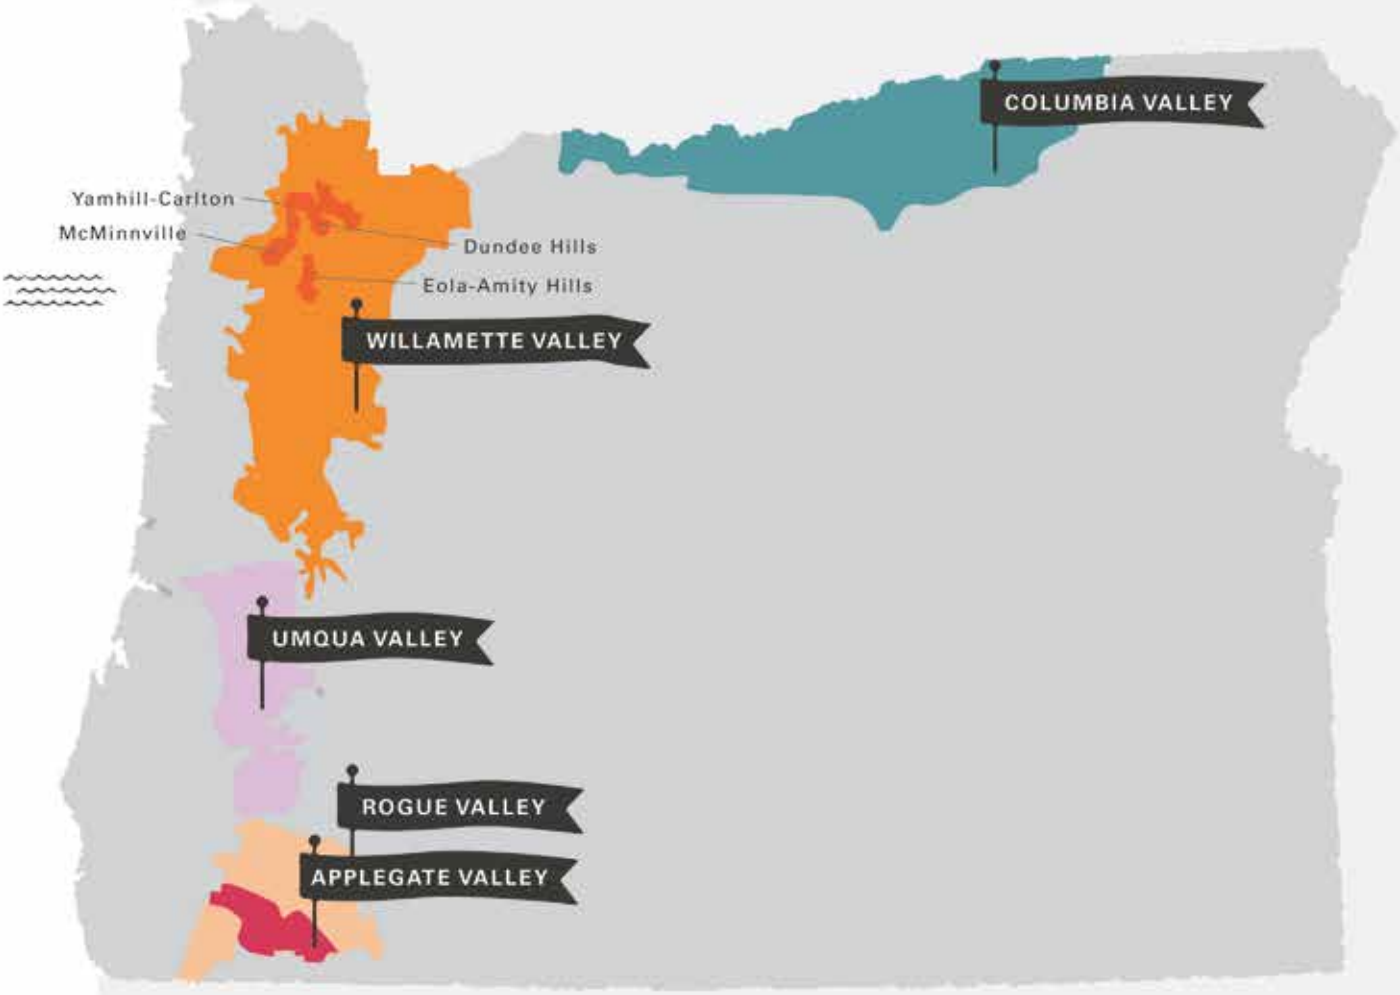
OREGON



Willamette Valley
This long green valley from Portland to Eugene is cool and ideal for making world class wines from Pinot Noir.

DUNDEE HILLS
Pinot Noir grows rich and complex from the iron rich red soils here. Unaffected by coastal winds and protected from coastal rains this is an ideal region.

EOLA-AMITY HILLS
A series of hills made from ancient volcanic soil and plenty of coastal winds make this a distinctive place for Pinot Noir.

YAMHILL-CARLTON
A south-facing bowl containing a series of horseshoe-shaped eroded hills and ancient sedimentary rock give Pinot Noir flavors of coffee, cocoa, anise, cedar and tobacco.

MAIN RED WINE GRAPES:
Pinot Noir

MAIN WHITE WINE GRAPES:
Pinot Gris
Chardonnay
Riesling
Gewurztraminer

Puget Sound

Columbia Valley

YAKIMA VALLEY
Dry vast region, and the first to be declared in Washington, the main grapes grown here are Chardonnay, Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon.

WALLA WALLA VALLEY
On the border with Oregon, with more sunshine and rain than Yakima, excellent wines from Cabernet Sauvginon, Merlot, and Chardonnay come from here.

HORSE HEAVEN HILLS
On the Columbia River in the south, on the border with Oregon, it is windier, cooler, and more mountainous here.

WAHLUKE SLOPE
One of the warmest and driest areas of the state, red grapes grown best here.

RATTLESNAKE HILLS
High elevation small sized region is split equally in terms of white and red grape production.

SAKE

Sake is an alcoholic beverage make primarily from rice and is one of the top growing beverage categories in the US. Though commonly being reffered to as rice wine, the brewing process is actually more similar to beer. Most evidence places the origin of Sake in Japan starting around 2,000 years ago, but the premium form we know today has only been around for about 40 years. Despite the alcohol content being somewhere between 16-20%, sake is actually sweeter than most wines!

Sake can be qualified into a few different grades depending on the milling. Milling is the process rice goes through in the Sake process-- the more it's milled down, the lighter, more refined, and more aromatic the sake will be.

Tokubetsu or "Special" is a designation that must be explained on the label.

PREMIUM SAKE

Daiginjo-shu
- At least 50% milled.
- The pinnacle of the sake brewer's art.

Junmai-Daiginjo-shu
- Same standards as Daiginjo-shu, but with no distilled alcohol allowed.

Ginjo-shu
- At least 40% milled.
- The top four grades are known collectively as "ginjo."

Junmai-Ginjo-shu
- Same standards as Ginjo-shu, but with no distilled alcohol allowed.

Honjozo-shu
- At least 30% milled.
- Includes added distilled alcohol.

Junmai-shu
- At least 30% milled.
- No distilled alcohol allowed.

NORMAL SAKE

Futsu-shu
Esentially the lack of a grade, there are no requirements for how much a brewer needs to mill their rice. This is not poor quality or "table" sake, but actually ~60% of the market!

Junmain vs. Non-Junmai is not an indication of a superior or less superior product. It's up to the style of the brewer! Adding distilled alcohol helps add some flavor and aromas to the final product.*

SERVING

Sake is most commonly served slightly chilled. A common myth in the industry is that warmed sake hides bad quality, but that's actually just a traditional way of enjoying it!

There is no industry consensus on what vessel is best to use. You may even see sake served in a small box called a masu. These were originally used for measuring rice, but now are often filled to the very brim with sake. In some restaurants, as a show of generosity, the server may put a glass inside the masu and pour until sake overflows and fills both containers.

As far as etiquette goes, you should always pour for those around you and never into your own cup!

At Imperial Beverage, our recommendation is that you enjoy your sake slightly chilled from a white wine glass. After your bottle is opened, it can last weeks in comparison to wine as long as it is refrigerated.

IMPERIAL'S PAIRING RECOMMENDATIONS

Here are some pairing ideas based on the sake's profile:

- Sake is the BEST pairing for any green appetizer
  - Fruity/Aromatic = Prosciutto, melon, and cured meats
  - Sweet =Tart or acidic food, salmon and light fish
  - Dry = Salty dishes, caviar
  - Fresh/Light = Sashimi
  - Earthy/Rich/Heavy = Grilled meat and pork
  - Textured = Oysters

SPIRITED

HIVE

BETTER FOR YOU CANNED COCKTAIL

PREMIUM SPIRITS & GREAT FLAVOR:

Each of our cocktails is crafted with high-quality spirits, like our six-times distilled vodka, Blanco Tequila from Jalisco, or premium gin. Our flavor profiles—such as Tequila Ginger with lime and honey or Vodka Cranberry with lime and honey—are not only unique but also expertly balanced to appeal to discerning customers looking for more than just the standard offerings in the ready-to-drink space.

ORGANIC WILDFLOWER HONEY:

Unlike most canned cocktails that use artificial sweeteners or syrups, Spirited Hive is entirely sweetened with organic wildflower honey. This sets us apart, offering customers a more natural and flavorful alternative, which aligns well with current consumer trends toward cleaner, more authentic ingredients.

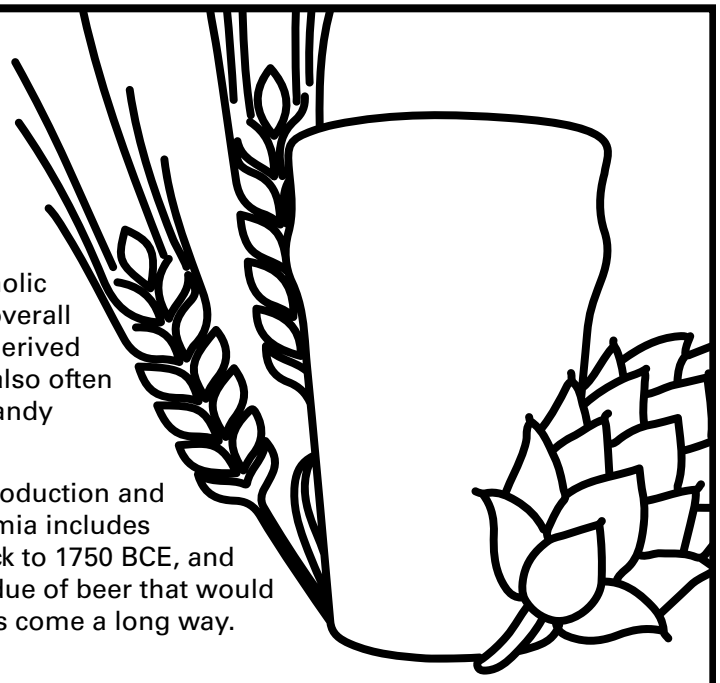
BEER



Beer is one of the oldest and most widely consumed alcoholic beverages in the world, and the third most popular drink overall after water and tea! It's produced by fermenting starches derived from cereal grains, mostly malted barley. Modern beer is also often brewed with hops, which offer bitter flavors as well as a handy natural preservative.

Some of humanity's earliest known writings refer to the production and distribution of beer. An ancient document from Mesopotamia includes laws regulating beer and beer parlors from all the way back to 1750 BCE, and the earliest evidence of beer ever is a 13,000-year-old residue of beer that would have had the consistency of gruel. Nowadays, brewing has come a long way. Here are a few different types of beer you should know!

Amber

4.4%-6.1% ABV

Named after their amber color, both amber ales and amber lagers exist!

They have toasted malt flavors with a touch of caramel.

Short's Local's Light is the Michigan's #1 best selling Lager based on 2022 IRI sales data!

American Lager

3.2%-4% ABV

Light in flavor and alcohol content these are crisp and malt-forward beers. Many domestic beers are in this category.

American Pale Ale

4.4%-5.4% ABV

Compared to other pale ales, this one is medium bodied and has a noticeable American hop bitterness.

Blonde Ale

4.1%-5.1% ABV

Fruit aromas with a perfect blend of malt and hops. Great for summer beach drinking.

Dunkel

4.8%-5.3% ABV

Strong malt flavor with a smooth mouthfeel. Originating from Munich, Germany, dunkel literally means dark, and it has balanced flavors of chocolate, bread crust, and caramel.

Indian Pale Ale (IPA)

5.1%-10.6% ABV

Generally have a high alcohol content with fruit flavors and a hazy appearance.

Pine and floral with that strong hop bitterness.

Pilsner

4.1% - 5.3% ABV

A lager with a high hoppy bitterness that sweeter malts can temper.

One of the most challenging beers to create, originating from and named after the city of Plzen in Czech Republic.

Porter

4.4%-6% ABV

Medium hop bitterness. Originates from street and river porters in England, who are known to drink dark ales.

Sour

ABV Varies

Very difficult to categorize a sour beer, but it will always taste acidic and tart.

Their production uses spontaneous fermentation methods, so wild bacteria and yeast in the air triggers the fermentation and results in funky flavors.

Stout

3.2% - 12% ABV

A malty beer with a noticeable taste of chocolate and caramel, but with a high hop bitterness too.

Wheat

2.8% - 5.6% ABV

Its light body often resembles fruit beers in terms of feel.

Typically has low to medium hop bitterness, and with its low ABV it's a great summer refreshment.

CIDER

Hard cider is an alcoholic beverage made by fermenting the juice of a fruit, usually apples, into a refreshing alternative to bitter, hoppy beers. They're a great alternative for those who don't drink beer!

It's an ancient beverage, dating back to at least Julius Caesar's first attempt to invade Britain in 55 BCE, where he found the native Celts fermenting crabapples. These crab apples were the ancestors of the bittersweet and bittersharp apples used by the English cider makers of today.

In general, ciders can be broken down into two main styles:

Standard

Modern Ciders

- Made from culinary apples such as McIntosh, Golden Delicious, Jonagold, Granny Smith, Gala, and Fuji.
- Lower in tannins, higher in acidity.
- Sweet/Low ABV cider is very apple-y tasting while Dry/Higher ABV cider has a more complex range of flavors.

Heritage Ciders

- Made from both culinary and cider apples such as heirlooms, wild apples, or crab apples combined with Dabinett, Kingston Black, or Wickson apples.
- Higher in tannins than modern ciders.

Specialty

Specialty Style Ciders

- No restriction on apple varieties used, open to lots of creativity and variation.
- Includes fruit, hopped, spiced, wood-aged, sour, and iced ciders.
- Rosé cider is made from apples with a reddish-pink pulp or other add-ins like red fruits, rose petals, or hibiscus.
- Sparkling cider is made when carbonation is directly applied to a cider.

Dry ciders contain the lowest sugar levels at 0.5% residual sugar (RS) or less. They tend to be more acidic and have a higher ABV than other ciders because the yeast consumes the natural sugars and leaves less behind.

Semi-dry ciders typically a little more sugar than dry ciders, somewhere around 1-2% RS. They're known for their smooth, rich flavors.

Semi-sweet ciders can contain more than 2% RS and are known to have a more pronounced apple flavor.

Sweet ciders contain 4% or more RS. This is the sweetest kind of cider you can get, with robust apple flavors and a generally lower ABV.

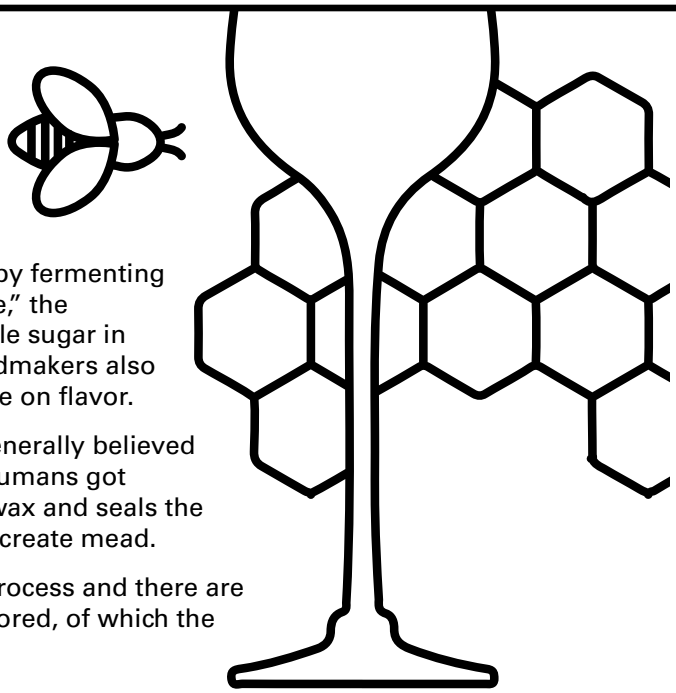
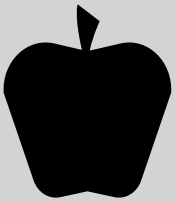
MEAD



Mead, in the simplest terms, is an alcoholic beverage made by fermenting honey mixed with water. Sometimes also called "honey wine," the defining characteristic of mead is that most of the fermentable sugar in the drink comes from said honey. Many meaderies and meadmakers also add fruits, spices, grains or hops to their mixtures to innovate on flavor.

Pinpointing where mead was discovered is difficult, as it's generally believed that its inception was before recorded history, even before humans got involved! When bees abandon their hive, the sun melts the wax and seals the honey inside. Rainwater and yeast from nature combined to create mead.

In the modern era, humans have refined the mead-making process and there are now dozens of different kinds of meads. Unflavored and flavored, of which the latter has three main categories:



Melomel

A mead flavored with fruits.

Some varieties under this category include cysers (mead with apple juice), pyment (mead with grapes or wine), and rubamel (mead with raspberries).

Cysers are one of the most popular styles of mead in our portfolio!

Metheglin

A mead flavored with herbs and spices.

Mulled mead is a great example, but there are many meads that include ginger, clove, black tea, rose hips, orange blossom, saffron, and more!

Braggot

A mead mixed with any style of beer.

Originally a braggot was a mead made with honey with hops, then honey and malt with or without hops.

Mead might seem like a new, niche product, but its roots are even older than wine. In Norse mythology it was said that mead could provide immortality. The ancient Greeks would drink mead to communicate with the goddess Aphrodite, originating the idea to call mead the "nectar of the gods."

White it probably won't make you immortal, mead is a unique alternative alcohol beverage choice to beer that's gluten-free! From dry to sweet, all sort of innovative flavor combinations, and an alcohol content ranging from 3.5%-20.5% ABV there's a mead out there for every occasion.
